RAILROAD MATTERS.

The joint railroad committee of the nate and House have now under conderation two important railroad bills. rated under the name of the Central lina. The application of the Vermont and Canada for an extension of corporate ights was presented to the committee Tuesday evening, November 21, by Col A. F. Walker, and opposed by Judge Poland and B. F. Fifield, Esq. The second bill was considered the following evening, Judge Dunton appearing with Col. Walker for the bondholders, and Judge Poland and Mr. Fifield for the Central Vermont company which resists the passage of both of these bills. Mr. Fifield characterizes both of these bills as acts to incorporate a law suit. Judge Poland says the bill is an act to incorpo rate a fossil, while Col. Walker calls

The question involved in both of these lills is whether the debts incurred in the management called trust debts, equipment loans, floating debt, etc., are a paramount Hen -pon the property. The managers of course claim that it is, which claim the bondholders resist. millions of dollars. The Vermont Central road is estimated to be worth $6,500,000. If the priority birth and whooping cough. of the trust debts is maintained, the bonds are of course worthless, and the Canada stock has but little value. The history of the management is so long and complicated that a brief statement of it is next to impossible. These reads have been in court, as it is called, about twenty years, until a debt has been incurred of sufficient magnitude to have become, if not a paramount lien, at least the most important one in the management. The original property has apparently passed out of view, and the court now sustains the somewhat anomalous position of acting as guardian, not of the property entrusted to its protection as a ward, but as a guardian of the man-
